

Acknowledgment

This book is a long-awaited dream for the editors involved, with Prof. Abtar Darshan Singh being the glue. Prof. Abtar conceptualized and ran a Master's Online Program at the Open University of Malaysia (OUM) where Prof. Ed Robeck was a faculty and Dr. Shriram was a student in 2010. Similarly, Shriram assisted Prof. Abtar in her work with Prof. Bibhya Sharma at the University of South Pacific, Fiji.

After more than seven years of work together, Dr. Shriram and Prof. Abtar decided that it is now or never and pitched Prof. Ed and Prof Bibhya on the idea of the book project. Moreover, around this time, Prof. Abtar's paper on Smart Learning had just been published by UNESCO and so there was an instant synergy. At that moment, we had no idea what was in store for us. Fourteen months of rigorous effort right from promotions, identifying the authors, contacting them and then working with the authors was both exhilarating and at times tiring.

Prof. Abtar has been the main sail and the foundation of this project. She brought everything together and made everything run. Prof. Ed has been the compass that showed the way with his own unique brand of candor and kindness. He has been clear with his focus on quality and time. Prof. Bibhya brought in the frankness element. He played the role of a great leader with his scathing reviews and experience in smart learning. Last but not the most crucial of all, Shriram's work in keeping it together, for being the person he is, the absolute dedication and excellent project management made this possible. God Bless.

Looking back, we had no idea where this journey would take us. But we will not trade it for anything else as we learnt a lot.

The publication of this book would not have been possible without the combined and unwavering support from contributors, authors, reviewers, as well as various other project contributors and stakeholders. We would like to take this opportunity to thank the authors of the 37 papers who actively took part in our call for submissions. From the 37 papers we had received, 32 were considered for the reviews of which 18 were finally selected to be included in this publication. Editorial and thematic considerations, as well as a rigorous selection process outlined by IGI Global publishing were key determinants in selecting the papers to be published in this book.

This publication was also reviewed, copy edited, and proofread by a team of expert editorial individuals who are separately named in the Editorial Advisory Committee. Each paper had to be peer reviewed by two separate reviewers, and there was a great amount of work done by these esteemed reviewers who devoted a lot of time and energy to the initiative.

We also thank Maria for her proactive support and to other staff of IGI Global Publishing. Maria has been the pillar of support throughout the editorial process. Her kind and composed nature kept us motivated and on track.

One equally special person in this journey is Mr. Krishnadas Narayanan from Malaysia to whom we are all indebted. His work in the project cannot be explained in words or expressed as thanks. But it is a feeling. We thank you Das for your dedication and professional support in our journey. We would not have completed this project on time without you.

We wish to thank Ms. Thiripurasundari and Mr. Senthil for their efforts in copy editing, referencing and word processing throughout the past 14 months. We wish to thank Mr. Loganathan, Mr. Dinesh and Mr. SadhishPrabu for their efforts especially in the initial months. We also wish to thank Mr. Raj Singh Malhi who helped us at a crucial time.

Dr. Shriram wishes to thank the Almighty for giving him the chance to work with his gurus (Prof. Abtar and Prof. Ed) and someone he admires very much (Prof. Bibhya). Like a gamer in a gaming convention, every minute spent with these titans of education is a god-send, a learning experience and something to be cherished for life. Hopefully there will be another chance at working with the same team soon. He also wishes to thank his lovely loving wife Sowmya and his daughter Vaishu and son Vijay for being so patient and their understanding. Sowmya has a wonderful saying “Everything is for the good” even when the times were really bad. Her words were proven right always.

Dr. Shriram also wishes to thank his students for their enthusiasm, inspiration, support and endless moments of joy and happiness. Long may it continue.

Prof. Ed Robeck shares the enthusiasm expressed by others for the time spent working with his colleagues Abtar, Bibhya, and Shriram in the preparation of this book, as well as to all the others already named that helped us in so many ways, and to the authors. It has been a wonderful team. Shriram has provided skilled and dedicated guidance throughout the process, in addition to the insights provided by his exceptional expertise in the field of smart learning.

On a personal level, Ed would also like to thank Tami, who is my constant inspiration and the foundation of all I have ever achieved, as well as Chris and Logan, my men in the arena.

Abtar graciously thanks all individuals involved in this endeavor. She particularly thanks Shriram for his excellent leadership and dedication in managing this book project, and Ed and Bibhya for their endless hours of editorial efforts. She sincerely thanks her three doctoral students from Hamdan Bin Mohammed Smart University (HBMSU), Dubai, namely Athra Al Awani and Sara Al Marzooqi for their great enthusiasm and passion as chapter contributors, and Maya Al Hawary for her ever readiness to assist with reviews. Abtar also thanks her family endlessly for giving her the opportunity to have her personal time and space to work on this book project away from home.

Prof. Bibhya would like to thank his family and the family (team) at work who are also present in this book as co-authors. Special thanks to Ms Swasti Narayan and Ms Jane Kanas for their hard work and patience in assisting in the review process. He wishes to place on record the contributions by the co-authors Shriram, Prof. Abtar and Prof. Ed. You guys have made this dream a reality.

Acknowledgment

The authors wish to thank Prof Asha Kanwar for graciously accepting to write the Foreword and being supportive of this endeavor despite her busy scheduled.

We the Editors are blessed with universal positive energy as there are good souls helping us. This is our first book editorial project and what a journey this has been. We have learned a lot and increased our awareness on how to do it better the next time.

Abtar Darshan Singh
Hamdan Bin Mohammed Smart University, UAE

Shriram Raghunathan
VIT Bhopal University, India

Edward Robeck
American Geosciences Institute, USA

Bibhya Sharma
University of the South Pacific, Fiji